Carl Hornung, 5th child, 4th son, and 1st child of the second marriage of Valentin Hornung, master wagon maker and neighbor here, and his 2nd wife: Louise, née Trautwein from here, was born on the 23rd of September early at 3 o'clock, and baptized on the 30th of the same month after the afternoon church service. Godfather: Carl Hornung, bachelor, 2nd, currently only son of Conrad Hornung, master wagon maker and neighbor, as well as church elder here. [Margin:] Siblings. N.K.T.R. V. 60 No. 18. Parents N.K.T.R. V. 50 No. 8.

Historical Context

This document is a handwritten German baptismal record (Taufregister) from a local parish church. It holds significant genealogical value as it meticulously details the birth and baptism of Carl Hornung. You will notice the precise record-keeping typical of German parishes, explicitly stating the child's birth order (5th child, 4th son) and the specific marriage it pertains to (1st child of the 2nd marriage). The term 'Nachbar' (neighbor) indicates that the fathers were full citizens of the community with established rights, while 'Wagnermeister' denotes their respected trade as master wagon makers. The abbreviation 'ejusd.' stands for the Latin 'ejusdem', meaning 'of the same month'. The margin notes are cross-references to other register entries for the parents and siblings, which were used by the clergy to keep track of family lineages.

Key Findings

- Carl Hornung was born on September 23 at 3:00 AM and baptized on September 30.
- His parents were Valentin Hornung, a master wagon maker, and his second wife, Louise Trautwein.
- The document reveals a strong family tradition in the wagon-making trade, as both the father and the godfather's father (Conrad Hornung) were master wagon makers.
- Margin notes provide direct cross-references to the records of Carl's parents and siblings, offering a clear path for further research.

Suggested Next Steps

- You should search MyHeritage for the marriage record of Valentin Hornung and Louise Trautwein, which likely occurred shortly before this birth.
- Look for records of Valentin Hornung's first marriage and the births or deaths of his previous four children to build a complete family group.
- You should investigate the specific margin cross-references ('N.K.T.R. T. 60 N. 18' and 'T. 50 N. 8') within the same parish register collection, as these directly point to the parents' marriage or siblings' records.
- Research Conrad Hornung to determine his exact familial relationship to Valentin Hornung; given they share the same surname and profession, they may be brothers or father and son.
