Tony Hanson

greet your husband, Mother & family

From the desk of

SIG. MEHUS

8 - 2 - 1976
10 - 2 - now,

Dear Laura:
Hell ___ First genealogy,
on all ___ write ___ mainly ___ always ___ and m ___ in this ___
I h ___
your g ___ as Ha ___ were siblings, have all the data on the brothers & sister, but need to but a lot of notes together.
I notice on both Hans & your father forms there is nothing on their wifes you must have some of that.
also your 28 g.c.
is your aunt Petra still here? also is Nora Hanson still alive, Have you a good system for this sort of thing? have 1/2 dozen different forms, there is something missing on them all.
Am sending you a Zerox map of the area where your dad was born and it seems also all my 4 grandparent came fro for 200 years or more,
"Have you a system for this sort of thing? I have ½ dozen different forms, there is something missing on them all."

GEDCOM Uploads Allowed, but....

Important! Please read before submitting a GEDCOM

Your GEDCOM information will be discarded if you do not complete the review process within three months.

We seek pages that are well documented with strong sources. Your GEDCOM must include dates and source information.

GEDCOMs with few dates and/or sources will be rejected.

By uploading your GEDCOM, you are contributing your work to a collaborative effort to build a unified family tree. Multiple people may work on the same pages, including those you contribute. We hope that you will monitor the pages created and respond to others' comments.

Unsure? Take a test drive: If you are not yet sure that the WeRelate collaborative style of research is for you, we encourage you to enter a few people by hand or to upload a small GEDCOM file to start.

Restrictions

The maximum number of persons that WeRelate accepts in a single GEDCOM file is 5,000. Larger files must be split.

WeRelate doesn't allow the import of data prior to about 1750, with rare exceptions.

The Fine, but Important, Print

You irrevocably agree to release your contributions under the Creative Commons Attribution/Share-Alike License 3.0 ⧉ and the GFDL ⧉. Others can add to, edit, download, and redistribute your contributions. You agree to be credited, at minimum, through a hyperlink or URL when your contributions are reused in any form. See the Terms of Use for details.

You are promising that you wrote this yourself, or that it is available under terms consistent with the Terms of Use, and you agree to follow any relevant licensing requirements. DO NOT SUBMIT COPYRIGHTED WORK WITHOUT PERMISSION!

GEDCOMs: Upload a Gedcom ❓

| Upload a GEDCOM | GEDCOMpare Reports | Download a GEDCOM |

If you have used another family tree website you can probably export a GEDCOM with your family tree. Upload it here for a special "GEDCOMpare" report with suggested matches — automatic search results showing family members who might already have profiles on WikiTree.

Your family tree won't be imported. Trees aren't imported because WikiTree is one tree that we all share. However, GEDCOMpare enables you to easily import data from your file to create and improve profiles for individual family members.

Recommendations

- Maintain one Primary Family Tree
  - Always make changes and additions to this tree
  - If you need to create a tree/trees on other platforms make a copy of the information from this tree
    - Periodically update the other trees with copies from the Primary Tree
 - If you get hints and suggestions from other sources update this tree

- Deleting and replacing your family tree will disrupt all of your Theory of Family Relativity (TOFR) matches!

- TOFR updates are only performed once or twice each year.

Recommendations

- Avoid WeRelate, WikiTree, Geni (Single Family Trees) until you see tangible value to working in the environment

Recommendations

- Use FamilySeach: It is a fabulous source of records
- Use the Family Search Family Tree as a tool
  - This is NOT a good choice to select for your Primary Family Tree
  - Add people only when you are certain about the relationships
  - Add the next generation so you can begin to receive record hints
  - "Follow" People of Interest

Thank You!
