Historical Context

This document is a snippet from a 19th-century Catholic parish register (Kirchenbuch), specifically a birth and baptismal record. The tabular format was standard for the time, allowing the priest to record essential genealogical data efficiently. It includes the chronological entry number (10), the child's name, the parents' names and religion, the family's residence (Bernstein No. 10), the midwife, the exact time of birth, and the date of baptism. The mention of "17tes Kind" likely refers to the running count of children born in the parish during that calendar year.

Details Mentioned

- Anastasia Metzger (Subject): You can identify her as the child born on May 23rd. She is noted as the 17th child (likely the 17th birth recorded in the parish that year).
- Anton Metzger (Father): He is listed as the father and is of the Catholic faith.
- Taube (Mother): Her name is recorded as Taube, and she is also noted as Catholic.
- Anna Maria Vogler (Midwife/Witness): She is from a place called Erleben.
- Antonius Metzger (Godparent): Likely a relative of the father, he served as a witness to the baptism.
- Katharina Vogler (Godparent): She is noted as being "dahin" (from the same place, likely Bernstein or Erleben).

Key Findings

This record confirms the birth of Anastasia Metzger on May 23rd at 10:30 PM and her subsequent baptism on May 24th. She was the daughter of Anton Metzger and his wife Taube, residing at house number 10 in Bernstein. The baptism was witnessed by Antonius Metzger and Katharina Vogler.

Suggested Next Steps

- You should search for the Metzger family in the parish records of Bernstein and Erleben on MyHeritage to find siblings of Anastasia.
- Given the house number '10' in Bernstein, you can look for other records associated with this specific address to identify previous or subsequent generations living in the same home.
- You might want to investigate the surname 'Taube' in local Catholic records, as it is an unusual first name for the period and could potentially be a misrecorded surname or a regional naming variation.
- Check for the marriage record of Anton Metzger and Taube, which would likely have occurred a few years prior in either Bernstein or the mother's home village.
