Historical Context

The document you provided is a handwritten baptismal or birth register entry from a German-speaking region, likely Arnstein. It records the birth and baptism of Johann Joseph. A highly significant historical and genealogical detail you will notice is the Latin phrase "per subsequens matrimonium 23 Oct 1810" (by subsequent marriage) written across the father's columns. This indicates the child was born out of wedlock, which is also shown by the crossed-out "un" in "unehelich" (illegitimate). The parents later married, legally legitimizing the child according to the laws and customs of the time. The document provides exact dates, times, occupations, and house numbers, reflecting the meticulous church or civil record-keeping practices of the 18th and 19th centuries.

Details Mentioned

Here are the details you need for the individuals mentioned in the record:

Principal Individuals:

- Johann Joseph (Child): Born on May 21 at 7:00 AM in Arnstein. Baptized on May 21 in Arnstein. Originally recorded as an illegitimate child, but legitimized by the subsequent marriage of his parents on October 23, 1810.
- Joseph Schütz (Father): A Catholic tailor residing in Arnstein at House No. 69. He married Catharina Zinner on October 23, 1810.
- Catharina Zinner (Mother): Single at the time of the birth, residing in Arnstein at House No. 69. She is the legitimate daughter of Anton Zinner.

Associated Individuals:

- Anton Zinner: Maternal grandfather of the child; father of Catharina Zinner.
- Johann Müller: Godparent/Sponsor. Listed as single and "from here" (Arnstein).
- P. Wilhelm: The priest or pastor who officiated the baptism.

Key Findings

Your key findings from this document include the birth of Johann Joseph on May 21 to Joseph Schütz and Catharina Zinner in Arnstein, House No. 69. You can see that the child was legitimized by the parents' subsequent marriage on October 23, 1810. Additionally, you now know the father was a Catholic tailor, and the mother was the legitimate daughter of Anton Zinner.

Suggested Next Steps

Based on the information in this document, you should consider the following research steps:

- You should search for the marriage record of Joseph Schütz and Catharina Zinner dated October 23, 1810, in the parish records of Arnstein to find more details about their parents and origins.
- You can look for the birth records of other children born to this couple in Arnstein after their 1810 marriage.
- Investigate the death records for Anton Zinner (Catharina's father) in Arnstein to extend your maternal line further back.
- Check MyHeritage for family trees or indexed church records from Arnstein (note that there are a few towns named Arnstein in Germany, such as in Bavaria or Saxony-Anhalt, so you may need to verify the specific region).
